View the course: Short Essay: When you begin a coursework writing project your only think about is that you will be asked to write an essay. You need to have a complete command of all the clauses, numbers, vocabulary and you need to be given ample time to ensure that you have the perfect essay. There are many clashing advices you can go by, however, this is definitely not the right thing to do. Before you begin the essay, try to make it a habit to read the introduction of your teacher. In the beginning you will notice that all of the tasks have been given in question form; therefore, you will know that the assignment will have specific requirements, numbers, times and so on. If your answers are not particular to the assignment and do not follow the format you have been given, then you will need to re-write it. You will also have a better chance at getting extra marks.. Intro 1. This subject unit is the first part of the coursework unit, and it is important to read through this page because it will give you an idea of the structure of the assignments you will need to do throughout the semester. Remember to read the instructions as the clock is ticking, and you do not want to lose marks. Please note that you will be expected to write your own essays, these guidelines are for reference only. In your final essay you should really just be writing your opinions. 2. Try to use a pen to make neat and neat handwriting. Please make sure that the headers are at the top of the page. Most of the time, we have been told that there are no rules regarding the structure of essays and all that matters is your opinion. This is an absolute lie. The question that the examiners will have the greatest difficulty is to decide whether you have been completely objective.. 3. If there is a figure of speech or a word in the question that you do not understand, try to do a little research on the web and check out a dictionary to make sure you have understood the meaning correctly. Please avoid using slang. You need to understand that a lot of the time your words are not required. The examiner needs to know that you have studied for your course, so stick to your course and don't try to be creative. Also remember to make sure that you are consistent with the mark scheme.
